'PUTTING SAFETY AS A PRIORITY'

Local property agents Rosedale, who are based in Bourne, Boston and Stamford have decided to make sure that safety in the workplace is a priority.

Jeremy Drew (managing Director of Rosedale) said "Now the clocks have gone back in the UK, it is dark by 4:00pm. That means the risk to personal safety in the estate agency profession will tick up a notch, especially when we are accompanying viewings in the evening on empty properties. Everyone needs to be extra vigilant to dangers that could be around the corner"

Rosedale Property Agents have employed the services of Master Parker founder of Master Parkers Serial Kickers to assist the sales teams in their personal safety. "So far we have done one training seminar which was based on a real life situation at a property. The feedback from the sales teams has been phenomenal" said Jeremy.

Catherine Brown Assistant Manager of the Bourne branch said "It is amazing how vulnerable you actually are. With what we have been taught I feel much more confident of what I could do"

"The first key to safety is knowing what to look for – seeing dangerous situations before you are vulnerable, "says Master Ian Parker "Then you need to know how to respond. Our course empowers men and women to do both. Our training methods are easy to pick up, and are vital to know in the case of an emergency"

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN A SEMINAR LIKE THIS FOR YOUR WORKPLACE THEN PLEASE ENQUIRE WITH MASTER PARKER
